

CBSS Training Courses

Summer 2010

"Quality and value today for a sustainable tomorrow"

In today's South Africa, not enough people realise that appropriate and prudent integrated environmental management is essential to achieve sustainable development and to facilitate the realisation of the MDG's, especially poverty alleviation. The conscientious manager, civil servant, employee and consultant however understands that maintaining and improving his or her knowledge of the concepts and principles underpinning sustainability, integrated environmental management and risk management, as well as of recent developments in environmental legislation, are critical to continue to make a difference to the future of our country.

Carin Bosman will be presenting a series of five one-day training workshops aimed at addressing some of the key aspects of environmental management and risk management as well as waste and water resource management that present pressing challenges for government and industry alike. These one-day workshops will cover the following topics:

1. Principles of Sustainability, Integrated Environmental Management and South African Environmental Legislation – An Overview
2. Principles and Concepts of Environmental Risk Assessment and Risk Management
3. The National Environmental Management: Waste Act 59 of 2008 (New Waste Act) and its Regulations
4. The National Water Act and Regulations – Practical Understanding
5. Water Use License Applications – Procedures, Guidelines and Pitfalls

Each of these workshops can be attended as a stand-alone Training Course, but since they are presented on successive days, participants can maximise their training experience by attending all five days, for a complete Training Course package entitled "Principles and Concepts of Environmental Management, with emphasis on Risk, Waste and Water Resource Management".

The dates for the workshops are 13 to 17 September 2010 and 4 – 8 October 2010 and the course venue is the Rietondale Lodge and Conference Centre, Soutpansberg Road, Pretoria, which has accommodation available.

For an optimal training experience, only twenty participants can be accommodated on each day, and early booking is thus essential. Courses are presented at a discounted rate for early bird registrations. To ensure your participation in this valuable training programme, please complete and return the attached registration form without delay.
